ALLIGATOR ON A THE POSITION OF HOW GINGLES FISHING CARRABELLE GOT LEAVE OF LINE EXPLAINED ABSENCE

Saurian Measuring Nearly Six Feet Caught on Night Set Line in Eleven Mile Creek, Near Muscogee.

F. B. Bruce is in receipt of a letter from Alf Davis who is one of a party of campers on Eleven Mile Creek, near Muscogee, which narrates a rather unusual tale in the fishing line, it being no less than the capture of an alligator six feet long with a hook an line. The story is told by Alf in his epistle as follows:

The Fisherman's Own Story.
"There are many deep holes in Eleven Mile Creek and I usually leave a large trout hook, attached to the heaviest line I have in one of the holes every night. On Sunday morning, feeling a little lazy, I asked my brother to go to the hole and see if there was a fish on the hook, but when he arrived at the place where I had fastened the pole it was gone and there was no sign of it. There is another deep hole about 50 feet below the point where I had fastened the pole and my brother, thinking it probable that the fish or whatever it was had pulled it down there made his way through the bushes and finally located it in some rushes.

"Brother picked up the pole and started to pull in the line when he felt a jerk and for some minutes there was a tussle to see which was master. Finally my uncle went to brother's assistance and between them they dragged in an alligator that measured 5 feet 9 1/2 inches. They dragged the alligator to the house and I now have it in the garden. People from all over the woods are coming to see Mr. Alligator and they can hardly believe that it was captured in the manner described."

Mr. Davis says fishing is fairly good and reports that he and those with him are having an excellent time. He expects to return to the city in the course of a few days.

Citizens Want Public to Know Exactly How They Feel About the Tarpon Case.

Carrabelle, Sept. 19, 1905.

Editor Pensacola Journal:
In front of our postoffice this morning is a newspaper clipping saying that Governor Broward ordered the steamer Tarpon to come to the wharf at Carrabelle and discharge her cargo.

If this is true the citizens of Carrabelle did not know it, neither did the captain of the Tarpon, but the facts in the case are simply this:

A representative of Governor Broward came to Carrabelle on Friday, September 15, had an interview with the Mayor, and said it would be better for the citizens of Carrabelle to allow the steamer Tarpon to come to the wharf than for the Governor to order her in. The mayor had a talk with the captain and next morning the Tarpon came in, without ever receiving any order from the governor so far as the citizens of Carrabelle know.

The representative of the governor went to Apalachicola the same evening, and next day the sheriff of Franklin county came over on the Crescent City by which time the Tarpon was about finished discharging her cargo for this place.

As to damages to be sued for, the Tarpon was not lying here at our expense. The captain was distinctly told that the citizens and merchants did not want the Tarpon or anything she had on board; all they wanted was for her to go anywhere she pleased so she did not come to our wharf.

You will please set us right before the public and let the blame rest on Dr. Porter for sending her here, as he has given us no protection. Just as we did, so did St. Andrews do. They say that while Dr. Porter had a cordon around the city of Pensacola and no one could leave without a health certificate, yet small boats were coming Mayor Bliss Refused Consent, Saying Street Superintendent Should Resign or Stay at Post of Duty.

The following from Mayor Bliss will set the public right on a subject that has occasioned considerable discussion for some time:

The Mayor's Position.

Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 23, 1905.
Editor Pensacola Journal:
There is considerable criticism in the city I understand, reflecting on me because Street Superintendent Gingles was given a leave of absence at the time that the city needed him the most.

I desire to say to the public that I am not responsible for this leave of absence. I opposed the giving of a leave of absence under such conditions, and I told Mr. Gingles that he ought to resign if he did not want to stay with his post of duty. I also told the Board of Public Works, the same thing, but the other two members of the Board granted the leave of absence, and I did not vote for it.

I trust that this will set the matter right, so far as I am concerned, with the public.

Yours, respectfully,
CHAS. H. BLISS,
Mayor of Pensacola.

there and they drove them away, the boats going on down the coast.

The citizens are glad that the Tarpon came and left in about three hours and they don't want to see her again till the yellow fever is stamped out in Pensacola.

We believe Dr. Porter is doing all that he knows what to do and has done a noble work in Pensacola, yet at the same time we feel that he has overlooked the importance of keeping the fever from our section of the country. Very truly,
J. R. BLOCKER.

OLIVE

Special to The Journal.
Olive, Sept. 23.—The ice cream supper given at Mr. Curly Jones's last Thursday night proved to be a great success. Misses Ninnon and Escambia Jones and Miss Mabel Hoer presided at the piano and rendered some very fine music. The guests were as follows:

Misses Katie and Mabel Hoer, of Pensacola; Miss Lizzie Merritt, Misses Bessie and Mabel Johnson, Misses Ninnon, Escambia and May Jones, Miss Kate Thomas and Misses Mary and Pearl Baker.

Mr. Bill Hoyt, Mr. Rupho Bryars, Mr. George Parzina, Mr. Walker and Edkner and Gerda Clark, Mr. Eddie and Jodie Creighton, Mr. Irving Holmes, Mr. Ned and Harry Robertson, Mr. Grady and Richard Merritt, Mr. Charlie Parzina and others.

All seemed to enjoy themselves fine.
Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Harper and little son, Joseph, and Mr. Bob Blackshire and wife are up the river on a squirrel hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rutherford are the happy parents of a fine girl.

SAGE LEAVES

Special to The Journal.
Brent, Sept. 23.—Another fever week is gone and we are seven days nearer to a heavy killing frost. May the new departure in science enable our health authorities, by the rigid measures being enforced, to stanch out the mosquito fever before the visitation of Jackson Frost.

Why not impose capital punishment on those who are proven guilty of carrying this deadly contagion through the streets under concealment. I suggest an order for every person to be arrested without a thermometer in his mouth while out on the street, and those showing abnormal temperature to be carried under screen to a detention hospital until "suspicion" is past.

Some ingenious yankee can easily invent a suitable thermometer in imitation of the decorative cigar.

Let there be a standing reward of a thousand dollars for the capture of any "victim" who may escape from the screen against Miss Stegomyia Fasciata.

The Stuart family who have been making ready for migration to California, succeeded in making a final departure from Brent station last Sabbath.

So effective is the mosquito blockade of the southern routes that they were ticketed via St. Louis and Kansas City, making a long crescent-shaped journey to the city of Los Angeles. They have retained their country home to fall back upon when the Panama canal opens and the Florida sand is felt in their soles.

Business seems to be booming at the dead line on the hard road beyond Goulding. It begins to be a reminder of a city market place.

After this quarantine is raised we want a recognized central market place in Pensacola where growers will find hundreds of purchasers every morning and purchasers will find trains of loaded wagons from which to "take stock." With such a market point a "cargo" can be sold at top notch figures in fifteen minutes.

If the city is "dead-stuck" on no market house let the farmers build immense shedding on suitable donated grounds for a country market.

There should be a secure enclosure for storage, in charge of a "checker," who might do a commission business to recompense him for guarding and faithful care of everything in his charge, to be open from 6 to 10 o'clock a. m. and 5 hours in the evening.

If the city would wall up the ditch on West Garden street and erect ample shedding in the center thereof, making "common-sense" regulations for a fruit and vegetable market there, it would prove most satisfactory and work like a charm.

iting friends near Milligan.

PINEWOOD

Special to The Journal.
Pinewood, Sept. 23.—The health of our little town at present is all O. K.

Hon. T. A. Jennings and Senator T. F. West of Milton, were business visitors here last week.

Miss Laura Elliot, a charming young lady of Millville, Fla., is visiting relatives here for a few weeks.

The new quarantine regulations relative to freight boats, are working a hardship upon our little town and vicinity. We now have to haul our freight ten miles in the hot sun.

Miss S. E. Stewart of Bagdad was the guest of Miss Nellie Wheat a few days this week.

Some of the young men of our community were in hopes of visiting Pensacola soon, but since the last fever

reports, they will have to wait awhile longer.

Miss Savill, a charming young lady of Mobile, who has been visiting her uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Pooley, left for Bagdad for a visit to relatives

there.

INFANT DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. BRIGGS DEAD

Norma Viola, the ten months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Briggs, Wright street and Eighth Avenue, expired last night after an illness of about three weeks' duration. The death of the little one, while not wholly unexpected, was a crushing blow to her parents, who have the sympathy of their many friends in their hour of affliction.

The funeral services will be held this afternoon.
